COORDINATOR SPOTLIGHT
Sondra Rodocker, Little Rock, Arkansas
"Hi, my name is Sondra. I’ve been a part of Postpartum Support International for 3 years now. I love being able to connect with families who are looking for someone to just listen to them. It’s taught me that my battle with postpartum depression was not in vain. My journey has allowed me to help so many others.

Always remember, you are not alone in this journey. I am here for you, it’s not always going to be like this. Some days are REALLY heard and that’s ok. It’s ok to not be ok. But know that someone is here for you."

*Coordinators are the direct contacts and representatives of PSI in their communities. They are active volunteers who provide social support, information, reassurance, and resources to moms and their families. PSI Coordinators also build connections and support networks with area providers and educators.
